WILL BE FIGHTING UNTIL END COMES

or lose. I think he will be fighting clear to the very end of it all.

Johnson's helpers are, in my judgment, better than those of Jeffries's. They are not afraid to tell him what they think, and they work all the better because they are not famous and are not constantly in the limelight. But without being cock sure every one of the bunch thinks the negro will win, and the best proof that they do is to be found in the way that they have all put up their money. If it should happen that the black man goes down to defeat then every one of these helpers will have to walk home unless some one comes to their aid, for they have been grabbing off all the bets with odds that they have the means to cover.

Does No Training.

Jeffries goes fishing, and I went fishing to-day. I have proven this to my own satisfaction, there is no training or boxing done on these trips that the boilermaker takes. They are inspired by his desire to get away from the crowd. The excuse for taking the fishing trip to-day was that he had done a hard day's work on Wednesday, and with the contest so close did not need to drive at it again to-day.

But I am afraid that Jeffries is putting on weight in the last few days. He looks about eight pounds heavier than when I came here, but in this hot climate it is easy to reduce, and he probably can pull the weight off him any time he takes a notion between now and the day of the contest.

But I still insist that he is not doing enough. I would give him any day just as much as he did yesterday, and twice as much I would put him through three times that much. If he wins this fight it will be because of the long preliminary work he did, and because he is a tremendous man with the power to sweep over every obstacle, but it will not be because of the hard work he has done in the closing days of his training.

'THEODORE' GREETED OLD FRIEND 'WILL'

was quickly recognized and cheered.

Affectionate Greeting.

President Taft was sitting in the library of his home going over the mail with Assistant Secretary Forster when he heard the "honk, honk" of the Lodge automobile out front. He dropped everything and hurried out of the front door on to the porch.

Colonel Roosevelt was out of the machine in a moment, and as the two men met their arms unconsciously went around each other, and their hands rested upon each other's shoulders.

It was some little time before the embrace was interrupted. Then President Taft warmly greeted Senator Lodge.

Soon the President and former President drew apart, while the others looked on at their tête-à-tête, with smiling interest.

What of politics entered into the conversation, what words of reminiscence, what exchanges of experiences during the past sixteen months passed between the two men, no one on the veranda other than the two old friends themselves was permitted to know.

There were so many peals of laughter, so many slaps upon the back, so much of cordiality that it was apparent there had been no suggestion of even the remotest conflict of views.

Colonel Roosevelt was asked if he would visit Beverly again.

"I don't know that I shall," he replied.

FAMILY WISHES SIMPLE FUNERAL

per this morning, en route to Washington, advising him that he was going to Washington and that he would hear from him during the day by long distance telephone.

The Lynchburg Bar Association will meet Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the courthouse to take such action as may seem to the association to be necessary. There is no doubt but that the attorneys will decide to attend the funeral as a body.

Arrangements are being made tonight for the reception of the congressional party, which will reach here by special to-morrow afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock.

To-night Congressman Jones wired that it would be impossible for him to reach here from his home at Warsaw in time to be present at the burial. Great disappointment is being expressed in the city tonight over the failure of some one in charge of holding the home guard over until the funeral instead of permitting the company to leave to-night for Gettysburg.

From Governor Mann.

The death of Virginia's honored son and distinguished Senator brings sorrow to our people, who wish to show every possible respect to his memory. The Capitol is open for the reception of his remains, and his old Confederate comrades will furnish the guard of honor if his family are willing for the people who loved him to see once more the face and form which they will ever carry in their hearts. Please let me know if it would be agreeable to his family for Virginia to do public honor to his memory."

Governor Mann's first message of condolence to Mrs. Daniel reads: "Virginia mourns with you to-day your most beloved and honored husband and her distinguished son. He leaves the record of gallant acts in war and splendid service in peace to his mother State as a heritage to be cherished by his loved ones and by every Virginian. Daniel, at Lynchburg, Va., Friday: Messrs. Martin, Rayner, Smith, of Maryland; Simmons, Du Pont, Oliver, Warren, Kean, Bacon, Carter, Wetmore and Money.

The House will be represented by the entire Virginia congressional delegation. Representatives Payne, of New York; Clark, Missouri; Bingham, Pennsylvania; and Hull, of Iowa, and Tawney, Minnesota, also will be members of the House committee. The two delegations will leave Washington for Lynchburg on a special train departing at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

General Mourning.

Norfolk, Va., June 30.—There is a general and sincere mourning to-day throughout the city at the death of Senator John W. Daniel, and the consensus of opinion is that the State has lost one of the greatest statesmen it ever produced. All of the public men join in a tribute to his clean political career, unquestioned ability and pure life.

Senator Daniel was well known throughout the city and was especially beloved by the Confederate soldiers. It is expected that memorial services in his honor will be arranged for the near future.

MRS. VANDERBILT FLIES

Makes Short Trip in Aeroplane With Harmon.

New York, June 30.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt went up with Clifford B. Harmon in his aeroplane at Mineola, L. I., to-day. The flight was very brief, cut short because a spectator got in the way.

Harmon purposely kept close to the ground for safety, and had gone halfway over the course when a man cut across a yard. To avoid a possible accident, Harmon rose sharply and attempted to make a tight turn and go back to his starting point. But, looking ahead, he saw a tree in his path and was forced to make a quick descent.

Both he and Mrs. Vanderbilt were jarred in coming down, but neither was injured. The shock loosened several bolts in the machine and slightly damaged the rudder. Mrs. Vanderbilt, thrilled by the experience, walked smilingly back across the field and joined the enthusiastic spectators. Yesterday Harmon took up his wife.

MILITARY ESCORT FOR DEAD SENATOR

Blues and Coast Artillery Ordered to Lynchburg.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

All State Departments Closed To-Day in Honor of John Daniel.

The funeral of United States Senator John Warwick Daniel will take place in Lynchburg this afternoon at the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, and three companies of the Coast Artillery from Norfolk will attend as military escort. Other Virginia troops which would have taken part have already left for the national encampment at Gettysburg.

Governor William M. Mann yesterday issued the following proclamation on the death of Senator Daniel:

To the People of Virginia:
It is with the deepest sorrow that I announce to you the death of United States Senator John Warwick Daniel, at Lynchburg, June 29, 1916, 10:10. He was a war gallant and faithful soldier, and in peace devoted the full power of his splendid intellect to the service of his State. History will do justice, I trust, to his enviable record, but now I wish simply to express the sorrow which fills the hearts of the people of Virginia. It is not an accident that he was a patriot and a statesman, but our friend, the man we loved, and it is to him we wish to show every possible mark of respect and affection.

Having these feelings in my heart and expressing the feelings of the people of Virginia, I have ordered the flag of the State to be put at half-mast and to so remain until after the funeral, which will take place at Lynchburg at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, and I direct the officers of the State to be closed on Friday, and earnestly request all the citizens of Virginia to close their places of business at 5 o'clock, the hour fixed for the funeral, to the end that everywhere in the State the respect and affection which he felt for the memory of Virginia's honored and beloved son may be manifested.

WM. HODGES MANN,
Governor.

WHY SOME MUST WORRY

Nobody need worry if they will stop and think. Ninety-nine out of a hundred other things happen because they worry about it and bring it to pass. Some people must worry because they believe they must; they use poor judgment in making investments. Everybody knows that stops and thinks that Monument Annex is directly in the path of Richmond's growth west; that the city is rapidly moving up to Monument Annex. Everybody also knows that money invested in lots in Monument Annex now is a safe investment, and means big profits soon. People that invest in Monument Annex do not worry about their investment.
